Lake study still one year away

Representatives of Ontario cottage associations were told Saturday that it will be at least a year before the Ministry of Housing releases the long awaited Lake Shore Capacity Study. The message was brought to the cottagers at the annual meeting of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Association by ministry planner Martin Sinclair. The group met Saturday at Humber College in Toronto.

Sinclair was questioned extensively about the release date of the document which many associations and municipal councils have been anxiously awaiting. As the spokesman explained, the studies should provide guidelines as to how much development can take place on a body of water before adverse affects occur to water quality, land, fisheries and wild life.

President of the Soyers Lake Cottagers Association was on hand for the meeting. Lew McCorriston said his group, and others like it, had been told on several occasions that the report was just about to be released. He said that each time there had been a delay. McCorriston claimed that the study had been underway for the past seven years and he was anxious to see the final results.

Sinclair said the document should be ready for the public in about a year's time. He said it was due to be printed next month but a series of testing will have to be carried out to ensure the information contained in the study is correct.

Sinclair noted that the Lake Shore Capacity Study will not provide definitive answers about particular lakes. He said the information gleaned from the study will be used in a model which then can be used as a reference tool in assessing the impact of development.

The ministry spokesman noted that the study has not examined the socio-economic impact of development and has been concerned strictly with "first tier" cottage development. Commercial operations, such as lodges, campgrounds and marinas will be studied in the coming year.

Sinclair used a number of examples to illustrate how the study model might be used in assessing development impact on a lake. He said that in some instances, a lake can be placed under greater stress by improving access than by allowing single season cottage development to take place. He noted that some cottagers wanted to limit development on their lakes but were requesting that roads be improved, or maintained on a year-round basis. He said by using the models prepared through the study, the ministry was able to determine that increased access would have a greater impact on fisheries in that lake than allowing the cottage construction to proceed.

When asked how the cottage organization will be able to get access to the computer models once they are working, Sinclair suggested it would be through local municipal councils. When that suggestion was greeted with a chorus of moans, Sinclair added, "You elected them". His comment was met with more groans from the audience.

Minister speaks

Guest speaker for the meeting was the Minister of Natural Resources, Alan Pope. He praised the cottage organizations for the support they have offered his ministry, particularly in the area of fish protection programs and lake quality assessment. Pope noted that the ministry had recently released strategic land use policies for many areas of the province. Public input was invited on the policies contained in the documents and, according to the minister, submissions from interested groups and individuals will be received up to the end of the year.

Commenting on the closing of shoreline allowances, Pope noted that his ministry is no longer objecting to such actions as long as there is reasonable public access to a body of water. He also stated that the ministry would not be creating any more shoreline reserves in the province.

In a lively question and answer exchange which followed, the minister answered a wide range of concerns.

One questioner asked whether the ministry had any limitation on the price municipalities could charge when selling shoreline property to adjacent landowners. It was pointed out that in one case a municipality was assessing a rate of 12¢ per square foot plus expenses. Pope replied by saying his ministry had no control over the land as it legally belonged to the municipality and it could be sold at any price they deemed appropriate.

Asked when the province would allow an advance poll to be held on Thanksgiving weekend for municipal elections, Pope told the group the matter was not under discussion at the Cabinet level. "I got the message from the bus companies last week that they like the present system," the minister quipped.

"Was the ministry considering the implementation of a residents fishing licence system," one member of the audience asked. Pope noted that money raised from the sale of an angling licence to Ontario residents would be chanelled into the provincial general fund. "Unlike some states and provinces, this money cannot be earmarked for use in enhancing fish programs in the province. In the absence of such a guarantee, we won't be creating a residence angling licence."

The minister also indicated that winter angling appears to be taking a heavy toll of the province's fish stocks. He said

HCSA says 'No' to ATC's

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association (HCSA) voted against a proposition to allow all terrain vehicles (ATC's) on club trails at their meeting last Saturday night at the Minden Firehall. However, the club agreed to review the situation next season to assess additional information.

Mark Lester explained the club's position to the heavy concentration of ATC owners in the standing room only crowd. He said the major problems were liability, landowner acceptance and compatibility with snowmobiles.

Insurance companies have not fully defined a category for ATC's to be insured under. "There is no standard method of insurance," Lester said. Some of the cycles have been insured as motorcycles and others as all terrain vehicles. This makes liability a grey area.

Landowner permission is another stumbling block. The sheer number of landowners to contact make ATC use on the trails unlikely this year. Tom Prentice said that there were verbal agreements made years ago which would involve extensive research to alter.

Another major concern is the impact of ATC's on club trails. No definite report has been made pertaining to ATC wear and tear and because grooming trails is an expensive and time-consuming operation, the club has adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

The ATC owner's position was most coherently outlined by Paul Prentice, a local dealer in both ATC's and snowmobiles, during the discussion period held after Lester's presentation.

Prentice said that ATC's will become vehicles to rival snowmobiles and that the HCSA should be the first club to benefit from the revenues from the machine. He said trail grooming would be offset by fees paid by the ATC owners. "I believe ATC's can provide a positive source of income for trail grooming."

Prentice also contended that because ATC's have low pressure tires and low horsepower, the cycles would not badly damage trails. He wondered if high-powered snowmobiles would be banned due to the concern shown for trails.

Bev Jobbins, chairman of the Ontario Trail Builders Alliance, said the Alliance's major priority is protecting the landowner. "The landowner is the boss, make no mistake about it," said Jobbins. He pointed out that the Trespass, the Alliance's primary authority, mentions vehicles designed to be driven on snow. He wondered if the three-wheeled ATC's fall into this category. Jobbins concluded, saying "the club already has enough on its plate switching over to the Alliance."

ATC proponents suggested that if the HCSA became the first club in North America to allow ATC's to use snowmobile trails, the benefits to the tourism industry would far outstrip any problems. "I wish you guys would take the bull by the horns and be number one," said Bill Prentice.

HCSA members repeatedly advised ATC owners to form their own club. The directors had unanimously voted earlier to held the fledgling club in any way possible. They said a club is a better entity from which to operate. It would be a better base to deal with the Ministry of Natural Resources. Tom Prentice said that the HCSA had jurisdiction over the trails during the winter and suggested the new ATC club could apply to use them in the summer.

The discussion was closed and the motion to refuse ATC owners as members was put to a vote. The ATC owners lost which prompted an exodus from the hall. One man said "they just lost a Ski-doo member there too."

Directors of the HCSA listen attentively during the group's annual meeting Saturday evening at the Minden Firehall. The main point of contention was whether the group would allow ATC's access to the snowmobile trails.

Committee formed to arbitrate range dispute

With the shooting season rapidly fading under a blanket of snow, a committee has been formed to determine the future of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club range on Bobcaygeon Road north. The committee was proposed by Councillor Larry Cummins at the November 10 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden townships council.

Cummins suggested the committee, which will consist of himself, and councillors Ed Pergolas and Lyle McKnight, should look into both sides of the dispute surrounding the range. He said the council appears to be "just running around in circles now," in regard to the conflicting reports being heard about the range.

A number of residents whose property is adjacent to the range have complained to the council about the noise and safety problems at the facility. Several petitions, both favouring and objecting to the range, have been presented to the council, however after a number of meetings and lengthy discussions the council appears to be no closer to reaching a solution.

The range is located on municipally owned property adjacent to a gravel pit, several miles north of the community. The township agreed to lease the location to the club three years ago. While the term of the lease was set at ten years, both parties may terminate it after giving proper notice.

Reeve Lloyd Walker said the committee approach appeared to be a good idea. "It is one way to bring this thing to a resolution," the reeve added.

Reeve-elect Lyle McKnight commented that the approach should help the council obtain a better understanding of the problem. "It is certainly a better approach than having the representatives come to the end of the table to argue their case," he commented.

No deadline was given for the committee to report, however with winter fast approaching, use of the range will probably drop off or stop. All three members of the committee were elected to serve another term on the municipal council.

Policy allows 5 days grace for sewer & water payments

Minden and area residents who forget to pay their water and sewer bills on time will now receive the same five day grace period extended to taxpayers who miss the deadline. The change in policy, which was adopted at the November 10 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council, came about as a result of a protest by one ratepayer.

Joseph Gentle appeared before the council to object to the imposition of a 10% penalty assessed because he missed the final day for payment of the accounts. He told the councillors that he attempted to pay the bill the day after the deadline, but the secretary refused to accept his payment without the additional 10% included.

Gentle said he was concerned because a portion of the bill was for "serviced unrendered and unreceived and yet I was being assessed a penalty." He was referring to the fact that the payment he was making now was for water and sewer services he would be receiving up to the end of the year. He asked, "If I paid these bills now and later discovered I didn't need them, would I be entitled to a refund?"

Councillor Ed Pergolas pointed out that taxes, telephone rental payments, and rents paid for accommodation are usually made in advance. Councillor Lyle McKnight said the municipality needs the money collected to ensure the system remains operational. He said that if the municipality decided to collect on a "for service rendered" basis, the township would have to bill on a monthly basis.

It was noted that the council recently adopted a policy which permitted a five day grace period for late tax payments and suggested that the same policy apply to water and sewer accounts. The change in policy appeared to satisfy Mr. Gentle who promptly went downstairs and paid his overdue water and sewer bill, without the 10% penalty.

Compromise

Minden council has chosen a reasonable path in appointing a committee to examine the problems created by the range operated by the Haliburton County Marksmen Club north of the community. The range has become a point of contention for a number of local residents who have objected to the noise emanating from the facility and have expressed concern for the safety of the range.

The matters have been brought to the council's attention because the range is located on municipal property and, as the 'landlord' the council is ultimately responsible for what is taking place there.

Previous efforts to reach some sort of compromise between the residents and the club members have ended in failure.

While this failure may be blamed on the intransigence of some residents, we also feel the club has done little to help reach a compromise. If presentations made at previous meetings are any indication, the club has put little effort in assessing other possible locations in the area of in suggesting remedies which would help reduce the noise level and ensure the strictest safety precautions are being followed.

The Marksmen Club provides an important and valuable recreational facility for this area in its range on Bobcaygeon Road North. However, the residents who own land close by have a right to enjoy their property without interference from excessive noise or concern about safety.

A compromise is needed to ensure both groups are satisfied. Hopefully the new committee, after listening to both sides in the dispute, will be able to find common ground on which all parties can agree.

Editor:

I would like to express my sincere though belated thanks to Sgt. W. Bailey and the officers of the Ontario Provincial Police who contributed to the sound organization and safe running of The Heineken Yard Roadrace. A record field of 258 runners participated in the 7.2 km race that was held last July 30 as part of the Minden Rotary Carnival.

For several years now, the Minden Detachment of the OPP has enthusiastically provided the safety precautions so essential to an event like the 'Yard'. Without the traffic control and supervision that the officers cheerfully maintained from the first runner at the start to the last runner at the finish, the race would not have been possible.

Expanding health care services

- by John Eakins -

According to the Minister of Health, more Ontario doctors will be encouraged to set aside their fee-for-service business and join a community health centre. While medicare has removed financial barriers to medical service, it appears that the poor are not making full use of the health care system. There are at present 10 community health care centres and 17 health service organizations in the province, and the Ministry of Health has given the health care centre association a $150,000 grant to develop more centres and has promised that there will be permanent financing.

Psychiatric departments/ hospital budgets

The Minister of Health has also stated that he will make sure that general hospitals give their psychiatric departments a full share of budget increases. Ontario's 240 hospitals have been given an extra $110 million to wipe out their deficits but at the same time none of them are to reduce beds or do anything that could cut back patient care without ministry approval. The Minister has stated that mental health care "must be a priority area for hospital boards", and wants to see mental health care developed to be equal to physical health services.

Letters sent to hospital administrators by the Minister have warned that they must manage under the new arrangements without incurring deficits or reducing services in any way that would jeopardize patient care. He told reporters that "If they can't live within the arrangements the Ministry will make arrangements to go in and assist them in running the hospitals."

Northern universities

According to the Minister of Colleges and Universities, four isolated Northern Ontario universities will be united by September 1984, in an effort to promote more efficient education programs in the North and a sounder academic and financial basis for expansion of services when more funds are available. Laurentian University of Sudbury and its federated universities of Sudbury, Huntington and Thorneloe will join Algoma College of Sault Ste Marie, Nipissing College of North Bay and College de Hearst are the campuses concerned.

Food sales tax to stay

The Provincial Treasurer has ruled out any changes until next year's budget, although new figures show his 7% sales tax is hurting Ontario restaurants. Statistics show that take out sales fell 17% in July to $58 million, from $70 million a year ago.

Dodging the issue

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

Since October 27, the House has been concerned with the passage of a number of bills brought forward in the June 28 Budget. The government decided to continue this first session of the Thirty-Second Parliament until all those bills are dealt with.

Bills introduced on October 28 are designed to: de-index Old Age Security Pensions (C-131); de-index Family Allowances (C-132); de-index Public Service Pensions (C-133). Bill C-134 gives Parliamentary authority to the measure proposed in June to allow Farm Credit Corporation to grant rebates on farm loans to effectively reduce the rate to 12%. Bill C-135 amends the National Housing Act to allow for a one-year extension of the Canada Mortgage Renewal Program. Bill C-136 gives Parliamentary authority to implement the Small Business Investment Grant program, as introduced in June. It provides funds for development, research and expansion, at reduced interest rates, for small businessmen and farmers.

By far, the most controversial pieces of government policy were not brought to the floor of the House for discussion. On October 28, Mr. Lalonde announced the formulation of a panel of economic advisors to the Minister of Finance. He obviously feels that his recently departed economic advisor must be replaced with a number of highly paid economists.

At the Liberal Convention in Ottawa, Mr. Trudeau

announced that he was forming a Royal Commission to study the long-term solution to Canada's economic problems. It is to report in 1985. If our economic problems are not resolved by then, God help us. Mr. Trudeau has not been in the habit of forming Royal Commissions during his tenure, so this was an unexpected move. I tend to agree with one of our prominent columnists in his assessment of this move. When Mr. Trudeau intends to do something about a problem, he sets up a small Task Force with a short reporting time. when he just wants it to appear that he is concerned about it, he sets up a Royal Commission with an infinitely long reporting time.

In this case, his motives are particularly suspect when it is announced that Donald MacDonald is going to chair the Commission. Of course, it was also announced that he will be free to leave the position if he wishes to run for the Federal Liberal Leadership when Mr. Trudeau retires. As well, the same economic advisor Mr. Lalonde has just replaced is rumoured as a prime candidate for a seat on the Commission. Isn't it amazing how the long-term solution to our economic problems is being put in the hands of the same Liberal cronies that caused the problems to begin with.

extend home ownership grants to homebuyers who purchase new homes before April 30. The provincial stipulation is that people must agree to buy by the end of the year, and the Treasurer has been critical of the federal Finance Minister's intention to extend the deadline, because there aren't, in any event, many housing starts between January and April in this province, which means builders would have to sell existing homes to benefit from the scheme.

Cairn unveiled

Sunday November 14 was a proud day for Haliburton County.

On that day the cairn constructed at the side of the Minden Library-Cultural Centre was unveiled. The marker is dedicated to the men and women of the county who lost their lives in defence of this country in the first, second and Korean wars.

Despite chilly conditions and swirling snow, a large crowd was on hand to witness the event. A parade led by the Haliburton Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 pipe band, marched from the Minden curling rink to the site of the memorial for the service of dedication.

Among the speakers was Branch 129 chairman of the cairn building committee Mel Robertson. He related the historical significance of cairns in that when Scottish clan members used to go into battle, they would bring an identifying stone to a central point in the area, and each man would leave his stone in the pile.

After the fighting, those who returned would pick up their stones and the stones not claimed, indicated and identified those who had died in battle, thus leaving a memorial cairn in the community.

Haliburton Legion Padre Lloyd Johnson officiated at the dedication of the cairn with three war veterans participating in the actual unveiling. Wesley Baker and Earl Casey flanked the memorial and Charles Rumbelow, seated in his wheel chair at the base of the stairs, drew the ribbon to part the flags and reveal the cairn. Wreaths were laid by Branch 129 president Sylvia Sisson and Haliburton County Warden Ron Gambell.

Following the moving ceremony the audience was invited to return to the curling rink for an hour of fellowship.

Members of the committee which oversaw the construction of the cairn were Mel Robertson, chairman, Sylvia Sisson president of Branch 129, Gwen Cox, Phil Graham, Don Johnston and Doug Pritchard. The cairn was constructed by Jeff Campbell of Minden.

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

Career week throughout the rest of Ontario was held two weeks ago but in view of the reverence with which we observe deer hunting season, and the fact that the two dates conflicted, we are holding our activities this week.

The Chamber movement throughout Ontario has been very concerned in recent years about the lack of direction our students seem to be getting in the schools. Far too many young people are coming out of the system with no idea where they want to go and what they want to do. It is no simple choice in these days of such rapid change where, what appeared to be a secure trade yesterday, suddenly becomes obsolete tomorrow. Our young people need all the help they can get, and in many cases far more than they are getting, to assist them in making career choices.

Many Chambers reported that when they approached the guidance departments of the schools to become involved in their career week activities the doors were closed. Those concerned seemed to feel threatened by outsiders becoming involved. The Chambers on the other hand insist that the guidance department of any school needs "outsider involvement" more than any other. After all the students are looking for information of a specific nature about businesses, trades and professions which certainly the guidance counsellors themselves have never worked at. In most cases their work experience may not go beyond teaching.

We are very fortunate here in Haliburton that this attitude does not exist. Ken Rydman and the students themselves have been very active in organizing the activities this week. The school administrator has been very co-operative in allowing the time to carry it out. Last, but certainly not least, the members of our business community have responded, along with some outside experts, to contribute their expertise and make themselves available for questioning by the students. Our young people, as a result of all this, are receiving an opportunity to become far more aware and prepared for the future they face after they graduate. We now look forward to the day when this sort of a program will be provided for all the high school students, rather than just the senior grades.

Shop at home

With the first winter snows thoughts begin to turn to Christmas and the annual shopping spree that always accompanies it. It is to be expected that many will be trimming down their lists this year and working on tighter budgets so retailers are not anticipating any return to the Christmas boom of a few years ago. Retailers here, however, tell us that the "boom" always has been relatively minor since so many people seem to feel it necessary to head to Toronto or Peterborough to do their shopping.

Just as the country is concentrating on keeping our dollars in Canada we should be thinking about keeping our local dollars in Haliburton County. Tourism dollars that come into the area take on more and more importance depending on how often they are turned over. Every dollar we spend near home helps to ensure our local economy and thereby employment.

Not only are local stores quite competitive with those in the larger centres, but the abundance of local crafts people also allows you to obtain gifts that are unique and reflective of the Highlands. Other gift suggestions would include historical books on Haliburton such as "In Quest of Yesterday" or gift subscriptions to local papers for friends or relatives who are interested in the county and its happenings.

The word is spreading

Since the Honourable Reuben Baetz uttered those famous praises on our Chamber and noted that we were "number one among Chambers of Commerce for promoting tourism" we are getting requests to speak to other groups who would like to emulate us. This past week we visited the Tourism & Industry committee in Campbellford to show them what we are doing and make some suggestions to their programs. They were most receptive and appreciative of our assistance.

Some may suggest this is helping the competition but we would disagree. "No man is an island" and that goes for tourist areas as well. If those around us are successful we will benefit also, and we could hardly hope to attract tourists to Haliburton county if everything surrounding us was depressed. Success breeds success and we're looking for more of it.

New look at Sportsmens show

The boys and girls camps of Haliburton County are getting involved in our display at the Sportsmens Show this year. A section of the booth will be devoted entirely to promoting their industry and a representative of one of their camps will be on hand at all times to answer questions about their facilities and programs. In addition Haliburton Hockey Haven have obtained a booth directly across the aisle from us which will help to reinforce this new theme.

Other members of the Chamber will be invited to participate in the booth as in the past and we will have details in our next newsletter. Watch for it and be part of our winning team in '83.

Title: Hollywood's Canada. Author: Pierre Berton.

Between 1907 and 1975 Hollywood moviemakers made 575 movies specifically set, although not usually filmed, in Canada. This book shows us that we Canadians have no sense of our own identify, partly because American moviemakers have distorted and blurred that identity. A great book for Canadian film buffs.

Council briefs

Items from the November 10 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden townships council.

- The municipal council has appointed by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell to another two year term on the Victoria-Haliburton Housing Authority. Schell currently represents the municipality on the organization. His term expires at the end of the year. The authority is responsible for the management of Ontario Housing and accommodation units in Minden and other communities.

- There was no objection raised to the opening of a new business in downtown Minden when the matter was raised Wednesday. Leon Wright of Kinmount announced that he would be opening a video rental outlet in the vacant store next to Miss Nora's Hairstyling. The council gave its approval for the business with the proviso that the games and video equipment were only made available for rent and not for use in the store.

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Canada is a nation amply blessed with wood, and recent years have seen a return to the use of this renewable resource as fuel for our fires. Already our forest industries make use of their wood wastes to produce energy - in fact, wood produces twice as much secondary energy in this country as nuclear. Homeowners are also taking a second look at wood, and over 1 million full cords of fuelwood were used to heat Ontario homes and cottages in 1980.

If you burn wood, you are likely already aware of the few basic rules - make sure your stove installation is safe, clean stovepipes frequently, and air-dry your wood for at least a year before burning. But are you aware that some kinds of wood give considerably better heat value than others? Heat value is measured in British Thermal Units (or BTU's), with Rock Elm topping the list at 32 million BTU's per cord, and the lowly balsam rating less than half that value at 15.

Generally, the quality hardwoods rate highly in heating value, with white and red oak, sugar maple, beech and yellow birch all rating in the upper 20's. Ash, soft maple, tamarack and white birch come next, with BTU ratings in the mid-20's. At the lower end of the scale, below 20, are members of the poplar family and most of the conifers, including hemlock, pine, cedar and spruce.

Ontario may be facing a shortage of commercial pulpwood in the near future, but our firewood supply is enormous. In too many cases, the tops of trees harvested for logs are simply wasted, instead of being cut into fuelwood. Most bush lots can be actually improved by removal of diseased or broken trees regularly for fuel. However, it is important to leave a few hollow trees per acre for the benefit of your wildlife, and to resist the urge to clean up completely all of the lower value trees. A healthy woodlot is a diverse woodlot, and you can do much to maintain the environmental interest of your forest by looking it over carefully to ensure that uncommon species and fragile habitats are protected during any cutting.

Dysart council supports Eagle Lake petition

Items from the November 15 meeting of Dysart et al council.

A petition from Eagle Lake residents and Dysart et al council's general agreement concerning the grade of the hill at the junction of the new Highway 519 and the present highway prompted council to plan to inform the Ministry of Transportation and Communications (MTC) that the grade is unacceptable for a high traffic area.

The district engineer has already been informed of the situation and will soon deliver his decision on the matter. The engineer in Huntsville said that the grade was within ministry guidelines but he will monitor the situation.

By-law approved

Council approved a by-law which would help regulate festivals by demanding a deposit from the organizers and an agreement to restore the festival site to its original state. This would cover cleaning and minor damage. The by-law also requires health unit approval.

Council agreed to the by-law after discussing a couple of incidents in other areas and expressed concern about rock festivals in particular.

Sprucing up the gallery

The sharp pine scent instantly assaults your nose upon entering the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. It will be a fixture of the gallery until Christmas has passed.

The permeating pine aroma is a happy by-product of the garland making workshop held Wednesday, November 10. The workshop, conducted by Pat Campbell of Minden, was designed to spruce up the gallery for their annual sale, held this year from November 18 to December 18. The event is in its fourth year and "does better each year" according to Christine Lynd, program co-ordinator.

Easy banter liberally sprinkled with jokes and laughter set the tone of the afternoon. To the untrained eye the job the women had set out to do seemed longer than the allotted four and a half hours. Arachne's hands would have surely been welcome but they were not necessary. The woven garlands gradually took form, their lengths dictated by window and door frames. Swags and wreaths were also assembled for doors and walls.

Dried natural materials play a prominent role in garland making, a perfect foil for evergreen boughs and swamp holly. Wire, cedar, pine cones, milkweed pods and other pieces of preserved foliage ("easily found by the side of the road. I've heard that before," quipped one wit) are all grist to the garland maker's mill.

The results of the workshop will be displayed throughout the gallery.

Huskies' future brightens

Things were looking a little brighter for the Haliburton Huskies, at least off the ice, this past week.

According to a team spokesman, the continued existence of the team is close to being assured, so the county should have a team to finish the season. On the ice, the team continues to suffer at the hands of larger, faster, more agressive teams, despite a much improved attendance by players.

The Huskies have worked out an agreement with the Minden Minor Hockey Association with regard to players moving back and forth between the junior team and the juvenile team in Minden. According to the spokesman, Haliburton will release all its players to the Juvenile team in Minden and, if Minden players are required by the junior team, they will be allowed to play on the junior team.

The exchange, which must be approved the provincial association, was reached between the two organizations last week. Ontario Minor Hockey Association approval is expected this Friday.

The interchange of players will be valid until January 10 at which time provincial regulations require that juvenile aged players cannot play more than three games for the junior teams.

"Minden Minor Hockey saved the day by offering this proposal," Brian Black of the Huskies commented Monday. "They didn't want to see the junior team fold in the county and we feel this is the best way of ensuring both a strong juvenile team in Minden and junior team, representing all of the county, out of Haliburton."

Black said that if the juvenile team appeared to be headed for a play-off position at the end of the season, they would be able to draw on players to bolster their ranks.

New coach

The team has also announced that a new coach had been appointed. Gary Warburton will take over the duties behind the bench. He replaced Rick Wood.

Friday evening the Huskies travelled to Parry Sound to meet the Shamrocks. The hosts scored four goals in the first period, three in the second and one in the third to defeat Haliburton 8 - 1. The only Huskies goal came in the first period when Ed Davis connected on a power play. The assist on the effort went to Scott Rae.

The Huskies were assessed 24 minutes in penalties and Brian Lloyd was ejected from the game in the third period. The Shamrocks were assessed 22 minutes in penalties and had one player ejected on the same incident as Lloyd.

Kelly Mitchell scored a single as the Huskies were defeated 13 - 5 Sunday at the hands of Gravenhurst. The game was played in Gravenhurst. Mitchell was assisted in his goal by Scott Rae and Mike Rae. Other goal-getters included Mike MacNaull scoring from Scott Mitchell; Scott Rae, unassisted; Mike Rae from Kevin Warburton and Don Manary; and Ed Davis from Scott Mitchell and Ross MacDuff.

The Huskies only have a single game this weekend. They are at home to Huntsville. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Building break-in

Police are investigating a break-in in Lutterworth Township in which $452 in cash was removed from a business.

The Gull River Building Supply Centre on Highway 35 was entered on the night of November 12-13. The intruders broke open the cash box which is kept in the office and removed $452 in small bills and coins.

The incident is being investigated by Constable B.J. Connelly.

Strikes tree

A single car accident on Scotch Line Road north of Minden has resulted in $1200 damage to a vehicle driven by Kenneth Holden. The 31 year old Minden area resident lost control of the vehicle in the snow covered conditions and it left the roadway striking a tree.

Holden was taken to Minden Red Cross hospital where he was treated for a head cut and released.

The investigating officer is Constable Mike Smith.

Cottage stripped

Meticulous thieves removed almost everything of value from a cottage on Maple Lake recently. Included in the theft was pine furniture and a stereo system worth $2000. The cottage is the property of a Willowdale resident and is located on Norley Road in Stanhope Township.

Access to the building was gained through a sliding window.

Constable B.J. Connelly is the investigating officer.

H.S.E.S. hosts tourney

Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School hosted the boys' floor hockey Ontario Provincial Intermediate Championships and a girls' invitational championship last weekend. About 200 people watched the three day event which included teams from Windsor and Battlecreek Michigan.

The Haliburton boys' team lost two close games to Peterborough, 2 - 1 and Windsor 8 - 6. Organizers arranged another game between Haliburton and Huntsville the other two game loser "to give the boys more playing time," said convenor Roy Scott. The Haliburton boys whipped the Huntsville team 9 - 0.

The team representing Whitehaven in Scarborough took the championship. Agincourt won the sportsmanship trophy.

The Haliburton girls team fared better in the invitational tournament coming in second after a 4 - 3 game against Windsor. "The team as a whole played very well," said Scott.

The girls sportsmanship trophy was won by the Lakefield team.

Juvenile

On Tuesday November 2, the Minden Juveniles travelled to Lindsay for a game which saw the two teams battle to a 6 - 6 tie. Six players shared in the scoring honours for the local team. Kevin Hamilton scored for Ivan Ingram and Wade Barry in the first period. It was a power play goal.

In the second period, Ivan Ingram connected, unassisted on another power play effort. Rob MacLeod also scored, with the assist going to Eldon Bull.

Greg Newell led the scoring in the final frame with Ivan Ingram picking up the assist. Jim McKelvey tallied on a power play effort, the assist going to Tim Wood. The final Minden goal was scored by Tim Wood with Eldon Bull picking up the assist.

Thursday the team travelled to Fenelon Falls where they managed a 6-5 win over their hosts. Again each of the goals was scored by a different player. The first came in the second period after Fenelon had taken a one goal lead. Ivan Ingram scored from Tim Wood on a power play. Greg Newell notched another for Minden in the second frame with help from John McKelvey.

In the third period, Eldon Bull connected on a pass from Ivan Ingram and Kevin Hamilton. Fenelon challenged the Minden lead by scoring another goal, but Tim Wood was able to put the team out in front again scoring on a short-handed unassisted effort. Another goal from the hosts brought them within tying distance, however Harold Cowen scored for Minden with the assist going to Ivan Ingram and Kevin Hamilton. The game ended 5 - 3 in Minden's favour.

The team's winning streak did not hold Sunday when they travelled to Huntsville. They were defeated by their hosts, the final score being 9 - 7.

Ivan Ingram picked up a hat-trick for the Minden squad, scoring once in the first period and twice in the final frame. Jim McKelvey assisted on both goals with Tim Wood helping out on the other effort. Other Minden goals were scored by Eldon Bull, assisted by Rob MacLeod, Kevin Hamilton from Ivan Ingram, Harold Cowen from Ingram and Wood, and Scott Hamilton from Eldon Bull.

Nice service in the chapel Sunday night. First part of the service taken by the Thompsons - Mrs. Thompson playing, Harold read the lesson, and praying. Rev. Burgess spoke on "Keep yourselves in the love of God looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto enternal life."

Monday November 8 was a real exciting day here. It was election day, all contestants hoping they would win, so they could hold sway. Monday night - well the battle of the ballots is over and the voters of Anson, Hindon and Minden have swept the slate clean. What the new members will do has yet to be seen.

Tuesday morning service in the chapel, this lovely November day, was taken by Rev. Burgess, as Rev. Wicks was called away. And our girls came to sing and play. It was nice to have Mrs. Taylor back again after being under the weather for a few days. Rev. Burgess spoke on if the Son can set you free, you shall be free indeed.

Congratulations to Ada Alcorn on her birthday. It is nice to see Violet Deumo back with us again, after her stay in the hospital.

Here is something that should be in the news. Down in the gym we were playing horseshoes. Mrs. Jenkins did something rarely done before. She made four ringers - a perfect score.

November tenth our Christmas bazaar. Judging by the crowd, I guess it was a great success. The tea party turned out fine, the tables filled most of the time. The lovely afghan made by Mary Oliver brought in over two hundred dollars, and was won by Mrs. Roland Sedgwick.

The people seemed to be enjoying themselves, whether they bought cooking, jewellry or pictures. When they had come and gone again, we sure were much richer.

Mrs. Ada Shorter went to Peterborough to visit her husband who is confined to hospital there.

Ada Lewis says she can see a lot better now with her new glasses.

Thursday afternoon the Minden Ladies Friendship Group brought up a lunch, so we weren't left in the soup. These different ladies come each week, and never let us down, whether from the country or just around town.

Friday morning Doris is taking those who wish to go to Lindsay to do their Christmas shopping, and take them around about. My wife and I didn't go. We would have been played right out.

Oh, by the way - The shot the nurse gave me, really did the trick. It took the swelling of my ankles down. She knew just where to stick.

Sing-song time again this Friday afternoon. Grace Coburn and Norma Baron came to play and sing some tunes. Grace read a couple of humorous rhymes, and sang a couple of numbers from "South Pacific" which were terrific.

Choice

Our lives are songs,
God writes the words,
And we set them to music at pleasure,
And the song grows glad,
Or sweet, or sad,
As we choose to fashion
the measure.

Group plans centre for parents/children

A group of interested and concerned residents of Haliburton County are proposing that a parent-child resource centre be established in Haliburton Village. A centre would act as an ongoing source of support to parents, caregivers and young children by providing a permanent location, a continual staff and a parenting network.

Such a place encourages parents to exchange ideas and share information while children can interact with other children. The centre would provide other activities such as toy-lending and parenting workshops as the needs and interests indicated. A parent-child resource centre allows parents, other caregivers and children to give and get a little - and to enjoy themselves in the process.

It is recognized that transportation time and the distances involved may prevent many people from using the parent-child resource centre in the village of Haliburton. Plans for the centre include providing similar services in other communities around the county through an outreach program. As with the centre itself, the activities will be determined by the expressed needs and interests of the specific community.

An essential component of the proposed development is a needs assessemnt. Parents and agencies and organizations whose focus is children are being surveyed at the present time. This input is vital to ensure that the program and services to be provided are those that are beneficial and desired by the communities.

The committee appreciates the time that busy citizens and representatives of organizations have taken to complete the survey. For further information please contact Rosie Kenney 286-2817 or Dawn Horsley 489-3141.

Snowdon Supporters News

Our October meeting was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ford, and we thank them for their hospitality.

This was our first meeting since June.

Our July Flea Market & Auction Sale proved profitable for all participants. A special "thank you" to Caryl Douglas, who acted as our auctioneer. Without her help, the day could not have been a success.

The profits realized from this event will help to offset maintenance costs of the ski trails.

The workers on the Summer '82 grant made some noteable accomplishments at the park site. Most obvious of their projects are the roadside signs at the park entrance, and the installation of the first length of boardwalk. A good job well done.

The township has applied for a winter work grant for further work in the park area. We are presently awaiting a verdict on this application.

The Snowdon Supporter group is two years old this November. We are both pleased and surprised to have come this far, and accomplished so much.

Through various fund raising activities, we have raised money to assist in our ski trail maintenance, and we have been able to offer a little financial assistance to the churches, community halls, and ball teams within our township.

Our community park and ski trails is a project which was initiated by Snowdon Supporters; however, without the help and co-operation of the Township, it would never have become a reality.

The township allowed us the use of a tract of land, and the entire project has cost the taxpayer virtually nothing. Funding for the venture has been mainly through government work grants, with a small amount of funds coming via Snowdon Supporters fund raising (i.e. auctions, and dances). To date, the community group has sponsored one grant, and the township has sponsored three grants.

There are a number of good side effects from this park venture. The fact that we have a project which has been deemed worthy of grant support has given us access to work grants, thus meaning seasonal employment for a number of Snowdon residents, which is good for them and for our local economy. We are also gaining a recreational facility in the process. This is not a short term venture, but indeed, it is planned to be phased over a number of years.

Our "park" is not intended to appear like a park in the traditional acceptance of the word. With the exception of a small picnic area, it is to be ski and nature trails combined in as natural a setting as possible, to allow visitors to travel through virtually virgin woodlands. This type of setting has proved popular with tourists from a city environment, and indeed, local residents who do not possess this type of land themselves. Thus these folks can enjoy this setting, perhaps observe birds or animals, and not be trespassing.

There are at least two facilities such as this in the province, where people pay to enjoy this type of setting; however, we do not intend to charge admittance, just to have people enjoy the facility.

Our next get together will be at the Lochlin Community Hall on Friday, November 19, at six o'clock. As we are celebrating our second year in operation, this will be a pot luck supper with a short business meeting following.

As is our custom, because this is a Community Group, everyone is invited to our meetings. Don't forget, this is a pot luck supper -- see you there.

In spite of the inclement weather on Sunday, a large number of people turned out to witness the unveiling of the Cairn at the Minden Cultural Centre. My father, Walter Noice was to do the unveiling, unfortunately he was indisposed due to pneumonia and so was unable to attend. I believe he is the only veteran in the area who served at Vimy Ridge. The program began with a parade preceded with pipers, and followed by members of the Legion. Lloyd Johnson read the scripture, followed by an address by Mel Robertson. The unveiling was done by Charles Rumbelow, assisted by Wesley Baker and Earl Casey. The last post was sounded by a piper, then Sylvia Sisson read off the names on the plaque. The parade then returned to the arena. A number of dignitaries were in attendance. The committee consisted of Mel Robertson, Chairman, Sylvia Sisson, President, Gwen Cox, Phil Graham, Don Johnston and Doug Pritchard. The construction of the Cairn was done by Jeff Campbell of Minden.

On Saturday evening last, Mr. and Mrs. Len Hamilton celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a delightful party at the Arena. At 6:30 the family enjoyed a delicious sit-down supper followed by dancing at which time about 300 people turned out to wish them well. At midnight a lovely buffet supper was served. It was an auspicious occasion for the happy couple and we join their friends in wishing them many more years of happiness.

I am sorry to report that Vera Jarvis is back in Ross Memorial Hospital where she underwent surgery. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

Ode to Beethoven

Oh sounds sublime which thrill and grace
With one accord, the human race,
Oh rapturous tones, oh beauty rare
A gift from God beyond compare.
No stranger here, no foreign tongue
Only to love his song is sung.
Transcending race and creed and colour
Now stand as one, man with his brother.
Oh God, if only sounds of strife
Could but be moved by this one life,
If beauty would not die away
But guide us all from day to day,
To look together to the sun,
To teach mankind to be as one,
This precious message deigned to give,
If men would heed, all men might live.

Hi kids.

Have you started feeding the birds yet? I hope so. You'll be surprised at all the pretty birds you'll have coming to your back yard, and it will save the little birds from starving to death.

Q: When is a piece of wood like a king?
A: When it is a ruler.

Q: What is grey and stomps out jungle fires?
A: Smoky, the elephant.

Q: What is always outside but never gets cold?
A: The sun.

They have no hands,
They have no feet,
But they stomp on Everything I eat.
Apples, melons,
Cornflakes, meat,
Hot or cold
Or sour or sweet.
They march across my food
And grind it,
But I find that I
Don't really mind it —
The more they pound it,
finally,
The healthier it is for me.
What are they?
(Teeth)

kinette corner

November 9 was our third General Meeting for the year 1982/83. This past week was a very exciting week for our Club. Tuesday, November 9 we iniated two new Kinettes. "Welcome Kinettes Chris Brittain and Julie Wilkinson".

Saturday, November 13, the annual Zone "C" Kinette Curling Bonspiel was held in Lakefield, hosted by the Peterborough Kinettes. Last year the Minden Kinettes hosted the bonspiel but didn't come out winners. This year seven Kinettes from Minden travelled to Lakefield very enthused about the bonspiel. Well this enthusiam paid very well, for not only did we win first place but also took third place. The 1982/83 Zone "C" Curling Champions are Chris Dollo, Linda Pentney and Jean Jackson. Our third place winners were Sue Ripley, Linda McKnight and Marj Young. Our only non-curler and biggest fan was Kinette Norma Amyotte. All seven Kinettes won a purse of some sort throughout the day. Congratulations girls, you are No. 1.

Returning home tired but, very happy we learned of a party being held at the home of Kin Larry Amyotte. Seven very happy Kinettes headed for the party which was turned into a victory celebration for them.

Our next meeting is December 1. This meeting is our annual Christmas party with our husbands. That's all I have this month.
